As we go to print, the election has come and gone, with Kevin Rudd claiming a spectacular victory with a 6.1% swing to Labor.

Along with a new Prime Minister, the election has seen Julia Gillard become the first female Deputy Prime Minister and approximately ten new female faces on the Labor benches across both Houses of Parliament will be joining her.

Most pleasing is that Kevin Rudd has ordered senior bureaucrats not to waste any time in drafting new industrial relations laws.

The 'Your Rights At Work' campaign implemented by unions across the State had an enormous impact on the result, with campaign workers and volunteers enlightening the general community about the threats to their wages and working conditions if forced into individual contracts.

In Tasmania, a clean sweep was achieved for Labor by winning all five seats in the House of Representatives.

Despite the resource boom in Western Australia and Queensland, it is important that a new government's primary concerns include what affects retail workers – such as rising grocery prices, mortgage rates and childcare costs.

It is also important that the Award Safety Net minimums are restored, with the right to collectively bargain and a strong form of protection against unfair dismissals.

As the new Prime Minister and the Minister for Industrial Relations, Julia Gillard, are now in a position to roll back the Workchoices legislation that has, in many cases, the potential to reduce wages and conditions in the workplace.

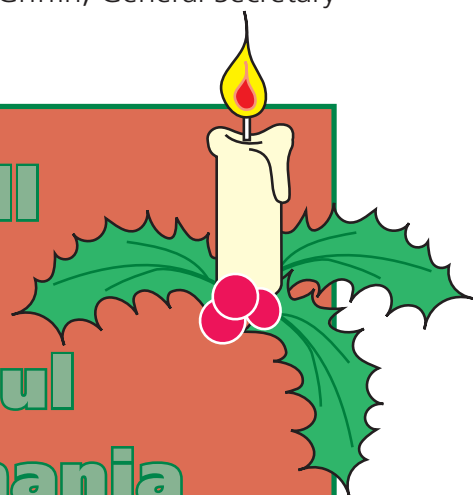

Introducing new industrial relations legislation should be reasonably straightforward. However, with new leadership in the Coalition and a new Senate not in control until 1 July 2008, it may be difficult to get the proposed changes through the Upper House while the current Senate shows signs of being hostile to any changes.

After eleven and a half years of conservative government, working families will now look to Kevin Rudd to provide them with a decent standard of living with cheaper and better education, access to a better health system, restraint on interest rates and increased and affordable child care facilities.

The SDA looks forward to a brighter future for its members. ▼

Great success at Myer Stores - a $60 increase!

Following lengthy negotiations with the new owners of Myer stores, a very successful outcome has been achieved for members.

The Agreement will be operative until 31 July 2010 and Myer has also made a commitment to pay any back-pay involved following endorsement of the Agreement by members and lodgement with the Office of the Employment Advocate.

Under the Agreement there are differences in conditions for existing employees to those that will apply to new stores and new employees.

For existing employees their wage structure and conditions will continue unchanged, provided they remain in their existing store – this means that in addition to the $60 increase for Level 1 employees over the term of the Agreement there are no changes to conditions such as rosters, RDOs, public holidays and rest breaks.

New employees and new stores have the same rate of pay for Level 1 and span of hours, penalty rates and allowances remain the same, however some conditions and the classification structure are different.

While the company requested this approach to provide greater flexibility in its operations, the SDA negotiated some important protections into these arrangements and further information is available from the SDA.

Increased benefits forming part of the Agreement include –

Parental Leave

The previous negotiated position to have parental leave increase from a one year maximum to two years will be included for existing employees.

Additional Hours

The following items will be included in a Memorandum of Understanding.

Reviewing casual positions:

The company undertakes to conduct periodic reviews of the hours worked by casual team members and, in taking into account the operational needs of the business and desire of the team member, may offer such employees a permanent position working similar hours. Where casual employees make such a request, they will not have their hours reduced as a response to their request for permanent employment.

Additional hours:

The company will maximise the opportunities for existing employees to receive additional hours where such employees are available and willing to work additional hours, in preference to offering work to new employees.

Sick Leave

This has been increased from 61 hours to 76 hours per year for full-time employees (pro rata for part-timers) and will also apply to a team member in their first year (currently only 38 hours).

Family/Carers Leave

Under the new proposal 76 hours of sick leave can be used in a year as paid carers leave (currently three days paid non-cumulative for full-time employees).

The leave can be used to provide care or support to either an immediate family or household member who is ill, injured or needs the care or support due to an unexpected emergency.

Susanne Smith, Bronwyn Haskell, Kimberley Carstes and Nahdeen Webster of Myer Launceston

A further 7.6 hours of non-cumulative paid leave will be available if a team member uses their 76 hours in a year, plus unpaid leave when their paid allocation is exhausted.

Casuals will now be entitled to two days unpaid leave on each occasion they need to provide care or support to an immediate family or household member.

Bereavement Leave

Two days paid leave will now be available upon the death of a household member (currently no provision).

In addition, a team member will be allowed two days paid leave to spend time with an immediate family or household member who has a life threatening injury or illness.

Public Holidays

All public holidays will be recognised by the company and under the proposal the company can require employees to work on those days.

The company will choose whether a permanent team member receives 250% for working on the day or 150% payment plus time off in lieu. Casuals will be paid 250%.

Where a public holiday occurs on a non-working day for a permanent employee who works 20 days or 152 hours over a four-week cycle, they will receive an additional days pay.

A roster change cannot be made solely to avoid a public holiday payment.

Rest Periods

A rest break will be due after more than four hours work, with a second break provided when working eight hours or more. With agreement, employees can combine the two into a 20-minute break. If an employee is in an existing store they will receive the same rest periods as existing employees.

Meal breaks have not been changed. ▼

NEW OWNER, NEW AGREEMENT AT COLES SUPERMARKETS

The new owner of Coles (Wesfarmers) has continued with a union collective agreement.

The SDA has been successful in negotiating a $66 increase for members over the next three years, commencing early 2008.

The following better wage rates and increased benefits will apply.

Rosters for part-timers will provide for an agreed number of hours with a minimum of 40 and a maximum of 144 over any four-week cycle and they can be rostered to a maximum of 20 days in that cycle. ▼

SUCCESSFUL CONTINUATION OF COLLECTIVE AGREEMENT AT HARRIS SCARFE

Wage increases of 11% over two and a half years and improved working conditions have been achieved through the proposed new Agreement with Harris Scarfe – testament to the benefit to workers of collective negotiation.

The Agreement will be effective until 2010 and, although yet to be ratified, employees have already received relevant back pay for the first scheduled increase.

► SPOTLIGHT

In May 2006 Spotlight proceeded to offer current employees Australian Workplace Agreements.

While these individual agreements were not taken up by employees in Tasmania, new employees were given no choice. Amongst other things, the AWAs they were employed under did not provide weekend penalties or public holiday rates – a trade-off of a mere two cents extra per hour.

In September the Managing Director of Spotlight contacted the SDA National Secretary (Joe de Bruyn) in order to discuss future industrial legislation for its employees.

Because of the differing Awards across six states and two territories, as well as AWAs applying to new employees, the company was advised by the Workplace Authority that its latest version of an AWA did not pass the Fairness Test.

The Company found this offensive and, although it was previously a strong supporter of Workchoices, criticised the Howard Government legislation.

The company subsequently began negotiations with the SDA at the beginning of December for a new Agreement. There are some difficulties in this process as it will combine all employees into an SDA Collective Agreement, meaning a number of current employees will need to be released from current AWAs.

Spotlight, which has approximately 6,700 employees nationally, wishes to expand over the next few years and it would be a substantial achievement for the SDA to finalise an Agreement with this Company.

► PIZZA HUT

Pizza Hut outlets in Tasmania are under a franchisee company that has recently indicated its intentions of being covered by a national Agreement, which would be negotiated between the parent company (YUM) and the SDA.

The SDA is seeking wage increases as the most recent Fair Pay Commission decision of $10.26 is yet to be applied. We are currently waiting on a response from YUM as to its intentions regarding the wage increase.

► BUNNINGS TRADITIONAL STORES

Negotiations are still underway in relation to a new Agreement for the small hardware stores operated by Bunnings.

The company has not made it easy to have this matter finalised, with cancellation of meetings and difficulties in setting down particular dates.

The next meeting is scheduled for Tuesday 4 December and we hope that meeting has taken place by the time members receive this edition of the journal. ▼

OUR SUPPORT...

Dear Paul

On Thursday 27 September 2007, in conjunction with my employer Woolworths, I am having my head shaved as part of a fundraising effort.

Paul Griffin presenting a donation to John

The fundraising is to help build a new playground for the children's ward at the Launceston General Hospital.

I am asking the SDA for a donation towards this worthy cause. Any donation would be gratefully accepted.

Thanking you,

John Prosser (Woolworths Kings Meadows)

Facing the battle head on

Within the ranks of our nearly six thousand strong membership there are some very brave souls ... and Vicki Connors is one of them.

Vicki started working at Coles in Sandy Bay when she first left school, then spent some time at the stores in New Town and Eastlands before moving to settle in the north of the state.

Following the breakdown of her marriage, Vicki approached Coles in Devonport for a position and was given an almost immediate start, working on night fill. She has been happily employed in this position for the last 19 years, in the process becoming one of the company's longest serving and steadfast employees. During all these years Vicki has also been a loyal SDA member.

So it came as quite a shock when, after she had been feeling a bit off colour for some time, in June her partner Doug booked her in for a doctor's appointment that started her challenging health journey.

When the initial tests showed very low blood count Vicki was hospitalised for a blood transfusion, which seemed to work well for a couple of weeks. However, she soon started looking pale and was losing energy once again, so it was back to the doctor with more invasive tests being undertaken in Launceston. It was when these tests were repeated at the end of August that Vicki and Doug were finally told the results – which were not good. It was cancer.

Since then Vicki has undergone major surgery to remove her bowel, at which time it was hoped the tumour would be contained. Unfortunately that wasn't the case and surgeons also removed sixteen lymph glands, four of which were cancerous.

The day after her operation Vicki turned 50 – not the most desirable way to spend a major birthday milestone!

There were continuous problems after the surgery and during the first two weeks she lost 20 kilograms. But in spite of the ongoing challenges Vicki has maintained a positive outlook. "We still don't know if all the cancer was removed so I'll be getting a full course of chemotherapy over the next six months – then I'll be fine," she says.

In fact, this year has been pretty tough for Vicki, with her mother passing away earlier in the year and then the cancer diagnosis. Vicki says her children and workmates have been wonderful, but partner Doug is her 'life support' and it is his caring and presence that gets her through!

Workmates from Coles held a get-together at the end of November to wish Vicki well in her recovery and she is already looking forward to the time when she can be back at work as part of the team. ▼

TURKISH DELIGHT

Kay recently traveled to Turkey to attend an international tourism congress where she experienced much of the great diversity of this amazing country.

My arrival provided the first memorable moment. Driving from the airport I asked about the speed limit and was told there was none – even though we had just passed a sign indicating 90kms and I could clearly see we were travelling at 130kms! We come to Ankara, the official capital of Turkey – a busy, traffic clogged city, where we had two nights before travelling to the most amazing landscape I have ever seen – Cappadocia. The fairy chimneys, underground cities and Byzantine cave churches are located in a surreal lunar landscape. But it is real and people lived in the caves until 1962. However, many locals have since built their houses adjoining the caves and still use them.

From there we travelled through Konya to Antalya, moving from barren hills to the ‘Turkish Riviera’. Between congress commitments it was wonderful to relax and enjoy superb massages and walk the beautiful sandy beaches.

On to Ephesus to the ancient Treasury, one of the Seven Wonders of the Ancient World.

The following morning we again wound our way back to the other side of the mountain where we visited Mary’s House, believed to be where St John brought the Virgin Mary after the crucifixion of Jesus. Outside there were stalls selling religious artifacts and as our coach descended the mountain – his time in daylight – many of us were wishing we had purchased every one of them. The sheer drops and crumbling road verges had us all on the edge of our seats and we realised we had traveled on this road the night before when, due to bad light and rain, we had been blissfully unaware of the dangers.

Canakkale and a planned visit to Gallipoli that coincided with two important dates – one of the reasons for our post-congress tour.

At 9am on 10 November the Turkish people commemorate the death of Attaturk. We stood in the town square with the locals to share their two-minute silence then every horn, siren and alarm in the region blared for a further two minutes – absolute bedlam as flags are raised.

At 4.45am the next morning (11 November) we boarded the coach then a ferry across to Gallipoli in time for sunrise. Here, looking at the beaches and gravestones, you feel the utter futility of war. We held our own remembrance service at 11am and the national anthems of Australia, New Zealand and Turkey were sung. Our Turkish colleagues had arranged for the Australian Vice-Consul to attend and the crew of a visiting Canadian warship also came ashore.

On to the bright and bustling economic capital of Istanbul – a truly cosmopolitan city that is home to 12 million people. The city is abuzz, english is widely spoken and the people are very friendly.

For anyone looking for a European destination steeped in history, architecture and culture, Turkey is a must. ▼

Dear Paul and James

Thank you both for your best wishes and lovely gift on the occasion of my retirement from Neil Pitts after 21 years in the coffee shop.

I have enjoyed my time there and also as a member of the SDA over that time and now look forward to doing other things.

Once again, thank you and keep up the good work.

Hi Paul

Thank you for my $120 book voucher, received this morning.

In 2008 I will begin my fourth and final year of a Bachelor of Education degree which, on completion, will allow me to follow my dream of becoming an Early Childhood Teacher.

This voucher will further help me to build up some resources of picture books etc. which will be useful to me, not only on my internship next year, but also when I'm a fully qualified teacher. I was able to being my collection of literature resources with the voucher I received from the SDA last year and am grateful that I will be able to continue to build on that with my latest voucher.

Thank you once again for supporting education through your generous scholarships.

Cheers,

Rose Milne

A very happy student

As announced in the Spring edition of SDA TasTalk, Louise Maxwell has been awarded an AFS/SDA international scholarship to study and live overseas in 2008.

Louise considers herself very fortunate to be our winner and wrote the following letter to express her appreciation.

To Paul Griffin and the staff at SDA Tasmania

As you are aware, I was the lucky recipient of your Student Exchange Scholarship.

I am writing to say a very large thanks to you all for providing me with the chance to study overseas.

Student Exchange is something I have wanted to do for many years now and I find myself very lucky to have been given this amazing opportunity.

There is no doubt that I will benefit immensely from the time I spend overseas – building relationships with others while attaining a better knowledge of the world.

Without your help, student exchange would never have been possible for me and my family and I am most grateful for your contribution.

Once again, thank you.

Yours sincerely

Christmas and New Year trading hours

In 2002 the State Labor Government made a decision to change the Shop Trading Hours Act to become an almost total deregulation.

Consequently, seven day trading became the practice, giving major retailers the ability to trade at any time except on Christmas Day, Good Friday and the morning of Anzac Day.

Subsequently, the only day that stores CANNOT open during the Christmas/New Year period is Christmas Day, Tuesday 25 December. ▼

OUT OF THE ASHES

When the Myer store in Hobart was devastated by fire on Saturday 22 September, the company acted promptly and efficiently in ensuring the protection of employment for its employees.

On the following Monday morning everyone was assembled and addressed by the store manager, who advised all employees that Myer would continue to operate in Hobart in temporary premises and would then rebuild into a world-class operation within three years.

The store manager further advised that all permanent employees would continue to be paid in accordance with the then current agreement for the next twelve months, irrespective of when limited operations commenced.

Casual employees would have their pay averaged out in accordance with their weekly wages for the previous three months and be paid until Christmas, when a review would take place.

To date, Myer has opened its new premises in Macquarie Street from which the homewares department is operating.

A portion of the Murray Street end of the building was not completely destroyed and three levels of this section have been rebuilt, allowing recommencement of trading on Friday 16 November 2007.

Although Christmas trading is well underway – albeit on a much smaller scale than in previous years – management is facing rostering difficulties in their endeavours to match the available work days and times to suit employees’ family circumstances.

The SDA is working with both members and management to obtain the best possible outcome for everyone under the rostering principles of the new Agreement. ▼

2007 - A BIG YEAR FOR YOUR SUPER FUND

As the year draws to a close it's a good time to reflect on what has undoubtedly been a big year for your super fund – Tasplan.

Celebrating 20 years in business, we negotiated improved insurance coverage for our members, launched the TasPension products for those contemplating retirement and became a Public Offer fund. This means that anyone can join and gain the benefits of membership of Tasmania's leading industry fund, irrespective of their employment status.

Members also benefited from another year of solid returns. The majority have their money in the Balanced Investment option, which featured double digit returns for the third year in a row (this year the fund returned 14.7%).

Tasplan has been recognised on a national level as well. We were identified as the top Tasmanian entity (ranked on growth) in the Business Review Weekly's Top 500 private companies, ranking 141 – up ten places from last year. The list ranked Tasplan as the market leader (financial services) in the State.

We were also acknowledged as a finalist in the national Rising Star awards conducted by Super Ratings. These awards recognise significant enhancements in service by super funds in order to provide greater value for money to members. Tasplan was one of five national finalists in the awards and this augurs well for members and the fund's future.

The Australian superannuation industry has gone from strength to strength over the last decade. Current estimates for investment in the Australian super industry are between 1-1.5 trillion dollars. Tasplan now has over $1billion in Funds under Management.

Remember, you can request a worksite visit from one of our Client Services Managers (CSMs). They can visit your workplace and present a free compact session to you about your super and other services on offer. These can be conducted during a morning tea or lunch break. We know employers don't have a lot of time to explain super to you, that's why we will happily do it for you – at no cost.

Employers are happy because it doesn't cut into precious production time, you're happy because you'll know a little bit more about your super and the services Tasplan offers and we are happy because as a 'profits-to-members' industry super fund, our role is to inform members about their superannuation which can become their greatest asset in retirement. Call one of our CSMs today.

We hope you've had a productive 2007 and look forward to helping you maximise your super options in 2008.

On behalf of the Board and staff I would like to take this opportunity to thank you for your support during the year and wish you and your family a Merry Christmas and safe and Happy New Year.

An excellent year for REST

It has been another great year and members were issued with their statements and REST's annual report during October and November.

Key things to check when you receive this information include:

Tax File Numbers (TFN)

Members need to provide their TFN to the fund before 30 June 2008. If this is not received all employee contributions (including salary sacrifice and any contributions claimed as a tax deduction if more than $1,000 in the financial year) will be taxed at the top tax rate of 45% – rather than 15% plus Medicare levy).

However, for those who have joined REST after 1 July 2007, the higher rate of tax will also apply to all employer contributions. In addition, if REST does not have your TFN, the fund will not be able to accept any after tax contributions.

Investment returns and options

The performance of all the investment options over the past 12 months has been outstanding, with the fund returning over $1.7 billion to members. The default Core Strategy performed particularly well, with a 15.61% crediting rate.

Another highlight for this financial year was the number of members receiving co-contribution payments from the government. In total, $170.8 million has been received since the offer started.

Simpler super changes

Following a huge media campaign, the government's proposed super reforms came into effect on 1 July 2007. The new rules change the way we plan for our retirement so it is good to be aware of how the changes affect you. Key changes under the new rules include:

- Providing Tax File Numbers
- Tax on all super benefits for people aged 60 and over has been removed
- No maximum payment thresholds for pensions
- Tax rules for people taking their money out of super have been simplified
- Removal of Reasonable Benefit Limits (RBL)
- Removal of the compulsory cashing rules
- Restrictions on paying a reversionary pension to children
- Widening the eligibility for the government co-contribution
- Introduction of new limits to the amount of contributions (both before and after tax) that you can make to super
- Asset test taper rate will be halved from $3.00 to $1.50
- Tax on employment termination payments have been changed

Co-contribution scheme

The scheme is now available for the self-employed who earn less than $58,980 and meet other eligibility criteria.

by Joe Debruyne

Eligible members can boost their super with up to $1,500 from the government by making a voluntary contribution to their super account.

New benefits for REST members

Continuing the tradition of offering members exclusive benefits, REST has partnered with AIG Australia to give members access to savings of up to 40%* on travel insurance. This is in addition to the great deal members receive on health insurance with Manchester Unity, fantastic home loan rates with Members Equity Bank and access to personal financial advice through Money Solutions+.

Zest!

REST's annual report has taken on a super savvy travel theme this year. There are great prizes to be won for members who sign up to REST's 'No more paper' and/or transfer their lost super into their REST account. Lastly, if members register for MemberAccess at www.rest.com.au, next year you can select to have your statement delivered online.

*The savings are calculated by comparing with AIG Australia's full price premiums as detailed at www.aig.com.au current at 15 June 2007. Savings apply to standard insurance premiums without optional extras and do not include pre-existing medical assessment fees.
